EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGNS.

During the recent session of the Rockcastle county Teachers' Institute conducted by Prof. J. W. Ireland of Belview, Ky. whom we consider one of the live wires of the state, two progressive movements were set in motion which will materially advance the Educational interest of Rockcastle County. The Reading Circle was organized and the teachers voted unanimously to co-operate in the work during the year.

Second:- The county Illiteracy Commission, being strongly endorsed by Mr. Ireland, launched a whirlwind campaign to begin Tuesday evening Aug. 22. The object of this campaign is to stimulate community interest and organize Moonlight Schools in every section of county. Speakers will be sent to the various school houses of the county and special instruction given interested parties. Any teacher, minister, or citizen desiring to co-operate with us as a speaker or teacher will write J. L. Pilkenton, Brodhead, Ky. explaining fully the line of work desired and will be pleased to render any service possible. A list of speakers, places and dates will be published in Signal and every live teacher will be expected to co-operate in the work. Two hundred illiterates should be taught to read and write during the two or three weeks beginning Monday evening Sept. 11, this date having been decided by the County Commission for all moonlight Schools to open.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Cora Wilson Stuart one of the great women of Kentucky launched this movement in Rowan county a few years ago and hundreds of men and women, many of whom are past the age of sixty, have learned to read and write.

The work of a teacher is not confined to the daily routine of recitations within the walls of a single school room. The teacher should be the life of the school and around the teacher should be seen the waves of progress. In many instances the community is looking to the teacher as a leading factor and should the teacher fail to meet the expectations of that community, that teacher has failed to comprehend the greatness of the work and waves of progress will in due time mark the final result.

We believe that the teacher owes the community, in which she teaches, her very best services, not alone as an instructor, but as a community leader. We should ever remember that we are leaders of children who will be the future citizens of the commonwealth and as is our leadership so will be our followers. These facts lead us to believe that the teachers of Rockcastle County should be the leaders in every educational movement which centers around the school and for this reason we are making a strong appeal to them to join us in this Educational campaign which will result in success and assist in making a greater Kentucky.

The following is a list of volunteers to date.

COMMISSION.
By J. L. Pilkenton.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY COUNTY TEACHERS.

We the Committee on resolutions
would respectfully submit the following:

1. That first all be it resolved that we thank Almighty God for each and all institutions for the betterment of mankind and we pray his blessings to continue, for without such divine help we can do but little.
2. Resolved that we approve the action of the Superintendent in holding the institute early in the school year.
3. Whereas the schools need efficient supervision. Therefore we request the County Board to require the supervisor to give as much as one day and evening to each sub district.
4. That we thank Miss Thompson and the committee for their efforts to make the institute a success.
5. That we the teachers of the county approve the law to compel attendance at school and shall work for the enforcement of the law.
6. That we appreciate the strong work prompted by strong school interests, that is being done by our state supervisor and worthy instructor.
7. That we regret that so much money has been spent building school houses that are so poorly planned and we would respectfully call the attention of the building committee to this defect.
8. That we thank Mrs. Davis for her untiring efforts to make the institute a success.
9. We thank Prof. Ireland for his efficient work in the Institute.
10. That we respectfully ask Mr. Albright to publish these resolutions.

W. R. DICKERSON,
Secretary.

In his address, accepting the Republican nomination for President, Chas. E. Hughes assailed the administration for its course in Mexico, preparedness and maintenance of American rights during the European war. He declared for a new policy of firmness and consistency toward Mexico, "unflinching maintenance of rights on land and sea" and adequate national defense. "We denounce all plots and conspiracies in the interest of any foreign nation," he said. He endorsed the woman's suffrage plank in the platform. A fourth of his address was devoted to the Mexican situation.

When You See

a little barefooted boy trudging along the road followed by a yellow pup and it's his pup, you see the happiest, proudest, most contented mortal on earth.

The dog may be entirely worthless—lacking in every characteristic that will make him either a valuable or useful member of the canine race—but you talk to that boy about him and see if he doesn't honestly believe him the finest animal in the world. "He's mine—yes, sir! and he's a good 'un." And the dog? He's just as loyal and devoted to little "barefoot."

Yes, Life is full of milestones, marking eras of happiness, and though it's a long hark from a little yellow dog to a well stocked grocery store—they are both indexes of character and milestones of happiness of a boy's life.

We understand your Boy.

of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework,
as well as run a big water mill.
